Care and Maintenance of Your Peavey Millennium® 4 AC BXP Bass

This is a high quality musical instrument constructed from the finest materials with the most advanced production methods. With reasonable care, it should provide many years of service and outstanding playability.

Temperature and humidity - It is important to protect your instrument from any extreme or sudden changes in temperature or humidity. You should store the instrument in its case when not using it. We recommend the Peavey Bass case (Item #00478970). This is a rugged, molded case made of strong ABS plastic, with metal hardware, keyedcenter latch and plush, lined interior with convenient accessory compartments.

Strings - For optimum performance, strings should be changed approximately once per month or after every twenty-four hours of playing. Some players prefer to change strings more often. Replace with Peavey Stainless Steel Wound Balanced 45s. Stainless steel winding offers a brighter attack and brilliant tone and our stainless alloy is especially non-corrosive and resistant to humidity -and perspiration.

Finish - Your instrument's finish is both durable and weather resistant, but requires care. Regular cleaning with Peavey Guitar Polish (Item #00063390) is recommended.

Battery - The internal active electronics of the Millennium AC BXP bass requires two 9 Volt batteries. They are accessible by removing the battery cover located on the back of the instrument. Heavy duty or alkaline batteries are recommended for reliability and longest battery life. Low battery voltage will result in distorted sound, especially with higher tone and volume settings. To extend battery life, unplug bass when not in use.
