

Furman Warranty Information:

For most products, Furman has a very generous Limited Warranty term of three years for defects in materials or workmanship on registered units. For units that have not been registered, the Limited Warranty period is twelve months. Furman's warranty covers parts and labor, with the term measured from the date of purchase of the new unit by the original owner. The warranty is not transferable. This warranty policy applies only to standard Furman products.